EDITORIAL

June began with excitement and enthusiasm as students returned to school, ready for a new academic year. They were warmly welcomed with the traditional tilak, kumkum, and akshat, creating a joyful start to the term.

The month was filled with energy as the Student Council Elections got underway. Students actively participated by creating logos, campaigning, and attending panel interviews. Their confidence, creativity, and sense of responsibility were clearly visible throughout the process. Creativity also flourished during the Van Gogh and Amrut Kala exhibitions. Students proudly displayed their artwork, and parents appreciated their efforts and talent, making the events a great success. The month ended on a proud and inspiring note with the Investiture and Prize-Giving Ceremony. Students were recognised for their achievements, and the newly elected council members took on their leadership roles with pride and commitment. June was not just the beginning of a new school year; it was a month of learning, creativity, leadership, and achievement, setting a positive tone for the months ahead.

ALUMNI EDITORIAL

My decision to study abroad did not happen at a desk. It happened on a family holiday in Melbourne during Class 9, watching people cycle to work, eat lunch outside, and leave the office at a decent hour without guilt. Something about the way Australians lived stayed with me long after we flew home. By Class 12, the plan was set: Australia, Monash, biomedical science. While most of my classmates were grinding through competitive entrance preparation, I made a different call — focus entirely on boards and the specific requirements for overseas admission. I had done my research, so I got on with it. What I could not have planned for was losing both my parents to an accident that same year. It made the decision to keep going feel less like ambition and more like something I simply owed to myself. Before I even landed in Melbourne, I had already joined student clubs online and connected with Monash's International Student Exchange Leader team. That one bit of preparation made all the difference. University itself was a culture shock in the best sense — no timetables, no teacher chasing you, complete freedom that very quickly teaches you the hard way that without your own structure, nothing gets done. A couple of stumbles later; I had a routine that worked, and everything else followed. The experiences that actually shaped me had little to do with lectures. The internship program placed me inside a healthcare startup where real problems were being solved with technology — nothing like a textbook. On campus, I went from International Student Ambassador to leading the International Student Society across all four Monash campuses, which eventually put me in rooms with the Education Ministers of both Australia and India. None of it was planned, but it all started from saying yes to one small opportunity. And looking back, everything I needed to navigate all of it — the discipline, the resilience, the ability to lead, was already being built at Nalanda through every small responsibility I took on without realising what it was quietly doing for me.

If you are sitting in those classrooms right now with bigger plans taking shape, here is what I genuinely wish someone had told me: enjoy this place properly, because it is building you in ways you will not see until you need them. Get your research early, reach out to students already at your target university before you arrive, and say yes to things even when you do not feel ready. Most of the best things that happened to me started exactly that way.

VAN GOGH'S AND AMRITKALA EXHIBITION

● Van Gogh's and Amritkala: The school organised a two-day Van Gogh's and Amritkal Exhibition that showcased the creativity and imagination of students from Pre-Primary to Senior School. The exhibition displayed a wide range of artworks, including paintings, sketches, creative crafts, models, and innovative handmade creations. Each section reflected the unique talent and artistic expression of the students. The event provided a platform for young artists to present their work and gain confidence. Parents, educators, and students visited the exhibition and appreciated the dedication and creativity behind every display. The successful event celebrated artistic skills, creativity, and the spirit of learning across all age groups. The event was inaugurated by Ms. Roshani Patel (mother of Nitya -Cl 12 and Dhanya -Cl 6), and Ms. Riddhi Sabhaya (mother of Vraj - Jr. KG).

Woodwork is one of the unique activities at Nalanda that children truly enjoy. Every child of Middle School creates at least two wooden items during the year and takes them home as a special memory of their school days. We proudly display these creations at the Van Gogh's and AmritKala Exhibitions, giving children an opportunity to showcase their creativity, effort, and practical skills.

VALUE BASED AWARDS

Schools have long mastered the art of quantitative evaluation. We measure performance through marks, percentages, grades, ranks and trophies. Yet some of the most important qualities that shape a human being often remain invisible — kindness, integrity, courage, empathy, resilience, fairness, friendship, responsibility and the ability to uplift others.

Nalanda's initiative to give away new, value-based awards is to shift attention from purely quantitative achievement to qualitative growth, emphasizing to children that character matters as deeply as performance.

Unlike conventional awards that are based solely on numbers, these recognitions are rooted in observation, relationships and experiences in school. A child who consistently includes others, shows honesty, displays quiet leadership during difficulty, or demonstrates perseverance despite setbacks contributes meaningfully to the culture of a school. Such actions may never appear on a report card, yet they define the future.

The awards draw inspiration from significant Indian personalities from history / mythology such as Prahalad, Mother Teresa and Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, allowing students to connect values with stories and role models.

These awards are instituted in honour of the parents Shri Natubhai V Patel and Shrimati Pushpa N Patel, Parents of the School's Chairman, Shri Mayur Patel. Children were awarded specially designed certificates.

 THE P.V. SINDHU AWARD recognizes a student who demonstrates commitment, focus and grace, both in victory and defeat. While athletic skill is recognized, the award places equal importance on fairness, teamwork, perseverance and respect for opponents. Good team builder, unbiased, bold.	 nālanda international school This certificate appreciates and applauds _____ of Class _____ for embodying extraordinary values, inspired by this luminary from Indian history/mythology. Values define the future! 13th June 2026 Chairman
 THE MOTHER TERESA AWARD recognizes a student who helps others selflessly, understands social responsibility, is empathetic, sensitive, adjusting, proactive, supporting, caring, reliable and includes everyone, without a sense of discrimination.	 nālanda international school This certificate appreciates and applauds _____ of Class _____ for embodying extraordinary values, inspired by this luminary from Indian history/mythology. Values define the future! 13th June 2026 Chairman
 THE VIVEKANANDA AWARD recognizes a student with a wholesome personality, displaying confidence, purpose and leadership, is a role model to peers, tactful and diplomatic, respectful to elders and peers, good in academics and has the radiance of Vivekananda in intellect.	 nālanda international school This certificate appreciates and applauds _____ of Class _____ for embodying extraordinary values, inspired by this luminary from Indian history/mythology. Values define the future! 13th June 2026 Chairman

The session highlighted common causes of fire on school premises and preventive measures to ensure timely action. Participants also learned about different types of fire extinguishers and their uses, followed by a hands-on dummy fire demonstration.

● Student Council Elections: The Middle and Senior School Student Council Election was conducted with great enthusiasm and active participation for various leadership positions in the Student Council. The election process began with aspiring candidates preparing and submitting their Statements of Purpose (SOPs), highlighting their vision, leadership qualities, and plans for the school. Candidates then campaigned among their respective housemates, presenting their ideas and interacting with fellow students. After the campaigning phase, a fair and transparent election was held through voting. The shortlisted candidates from classes 8 and 11 further appeared for a panel interview, where their communication skills, confidence, and leadership abilities were assessed. The process encouraged responsibility, teamwork, and democratic values among students.

This demonstration set the tone for the year ahead, as each class will now present assemblies based on weekly motivational themes through personality sharing, skits, extempore speeches, and action songs.

● Learning is Fun! Place value was introduced using Froebel gifts as concrete learning materials. Students explored numbers by grouping and arranging the blocks to represent different numbers. The use of Froebel gifts made the concept of place value engaging, interactive, and meaningful for the learners.

● Learning beyond books! : Learning took flight in Class 2 this week as students explored the world of transportation through the poem "Travelling Travelling"! PARENTS' WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENT

We have completed our first round of Parents' Workshop for some classes for this year and would like to share some observations and changes in this regard.

With the rise in the number of children and therefore parents, it is increasingly getting more and more difficult to smoothly conduct workshops at our Admin. Office at Crossword as it has led to the rise in number of vehicles, parking and related logistical concerns. A huge number of cars and two-wheelers line up on both sides of the road causing traffic jams and chaos which in turn leads to a lot of inconvenience to residents and offices around.

Hence, for the convenience of everyone involved, we have decided to shift the venue of workshops to school for this academic year, 2026-'27. Parents will have the following conveniences in school:

- Ample Parking Space
- Better experience of classroom infrastructure used by students
- Crèche facility (to be used in case of emergencies or if there are no caretakers at home)
- Classroom Seating Arrangements

This is the revised schedule of the workshops, class-wise, w.e.f 22nd June 2026.

PARENTING TIPS - The Parent's Bookshelf - 3 Essential Reads by Indian Authors

It's no secret that most of us wish our children came with some sort of instruction manual. While there's no magic rulebook for raising children, we can get some amazing shortcuts from experts who understand the unique dynamics of Indian families. Whether you're dealing with toddler meltdowns or teenager mood swings, these three books offer simple, real-world advice that works for any age.

1. All You Need Is Love: The Art of Mindful Parenting - By Dr. Shelja Sen

- The Synopsis: Written by a leading Indian child psychologist, this book introduces the '5C framework—Connect, Coach, Care, Community, and Commit'—to help parents understand their children better and build strong, lasting relationships.
- The Big Takeaway: Connect before you try to correct. When a child acts out—whether it's an elementary schooler throwing a fit or a teen shutting down—they need emotional safety first, not immediate lecturing.

2. iParent: Navigating the Digital World with Your Child - By Neha J. Hiranandani

- The Synopsis: If you constantly argue with your children about screen time, this book is a lifesaver. It decodes India's "app generation" with lots of humour and zero judgement. Instead of just saying "get off your phone," the author gives practical, research-backed ways to guide your kids toward cyber-safety and balance.
- The Big Takeaway: Be a guide, not a helicopter. We can't ban technology, but we can teach our kids how to use it safely. The goal is to build digital discipline together rather than playing phone detective.

3. Is Your Child Ready to Face the World - By Dr. Anupam Sibal

- The Synopsis: Written by a renowned pediatrician, this book highlights the importance of leading by example. Dr. Sibal guides parents on nurturing values like honesty, empathy, and resilience through everyday family interactions.
- The Big Takeaway: Children copy what we do, not what we say. If we want our kids to handle stress calmly or speak respectfully, they need to see us practicing those same habits at the dinner table.
